Human Relations Commission and the Commission for Women Recognize Women's History Month

(Bel Air, MD) - - The Harford County Human Relations Commission and the Commission for Women are joining together to bring awareness to March as Women's History Month.

This year's Women's History Month theme is "Celebrating Women of Character, Courage, and Commitment." The Commission for Women will host a ceremony announcing this year's Women of Tomorrow award winners on Monday, April 7, 2014, 6:00 p.m. at the Abingdon Branch of the Harford County Library.

The program will include a glance back at a successful Harford County woman, a view of the current status of a prominent local woman as well as a salute to young women destined for greatness. The program is free and open to the public. Those interested in attending should RSVP to 410-638-4739 or lgmanfuso@harfordcountymd.gov.

The Commission for Women is a 15-member volunteer advisory board appointed by the County Executive with the approval of the County Council to 3-year terms. The Commission promotes the economic, social and political equality of women in Harford County through assorted forums.

The Human Relations Commission is also a 15-member volunteer advisory board appointed by the County Executive with the approval of the County Council to serve with the County Executive. Among other things, the Commission hosts and supports events in our community that advocate cultural appreciation and demonstrate how diversity builds strong community.
